Day Planner Wednesday 20th June

8am The gates open for the 128th Lincolnshire Show, so prepare yourself for a full day of entertainment for the whole family.

9am Why not start the day with an old favourite? The Brewin Dolphin Driving Classes will be providing a wonderful demonstration of horse riding for another year. Whether you're an equestrian fan, or just interested in learning a little more about the skill behind it, make sure you're ringside first thing.

10am Make your way to the Schools' Challenge area to watch schools from the region try their hand at sausage making. Following the Discovery Zone theme From Pork to Fork, sponsors Uncle Henry's Cafe and Farm Shop will take over the kitchen and put the pupils through their paces to produce the best sausages in just under an hour.

11am Whether it's rain or shine, it's officially summer and time for an ice cream. Why not take a trip to Willingham Fayre's stand in the Food Court and pick up a yummy dairy ice cream, made in the Lincolnshire Wolds with whole fresh milk, double cream, fresh fruits, natural flavours and ingredients.

11.30am Put your hands together for our Long Service Award winners. More than 25 people from in and around Lincolnshire will be presented with a medal by Lord Taylor of Holbeach for more than 40 year's dedicated work to one of the county's many agricultural businesses.

12.30pm Be entertained by the impressive sounds of the Waddington Pipes and Drums Band in the Clydesdale Main Ring. Dressed in their finery, the band will partake in a traditional ceremony of music and marching.

- 1pm Is your stomach grumbling? It must be time to try Lincolnshire free range sausages in buns from The Pink Pig Farm in the Food Court or, if you're thirsty, try a local tippie from the Jollydale Cyder, made in Stamford.
- 2pm Lincs FM present You've Got Talent. A competition has been running throughout the county and the winners of each heat will perform for you. Plus, you might even get the chance to meet the Lincs FM team too!
- 3.30pm On your marks... Get set... Go! Throughout the two days of show animals are judged on their height, weight, coat and colour, but at the Pig Racing event in the Duckworth Isuzu Countryside Ring, speed is what counts! Watch the pigs take on the challenge and unite in a rapturous applause for the victorious piggy.

- 4pm Take a look at many of the crafts being demonstrated in the Traditional Rural Skills marquee. Our skilful upholsterers, wood workers and potters are looking forward to answering questions about their traditional trades.
- 5pm Pop along to the BBC Lincolnshire tent to see live performances from exceptionally talented Lincolnshire acts and even partake in the much loved Gardeners Question Time, which returns for 2012.
- 6.15pm If you're a member of the Lincolnshire Agricultural Society you're in for a treat. Local band The Bush Doctors will be performing in the exclusive Members' Lounge.

Day Planner Thursday 21st June

8am Follow your nose to one of the many food concessions covering the 200 acres of the Lincolnshire Showground and pick up your breakfast of choice. Be it a bacon sandwich, a pancake or full English you'll be spoilt for choice.

9.45am If you're looking for adrenalin fuelled equestrian sport, then Osborne Refrigerators Double Harness Scurry Racing is just for you! We guarantee you'll be cheering and gasping at beautiful ponies pulling stripped-down carriages as they weave through a collection of obstacles at break neck speed.

10.45am Watch a part of Lincolnshire history as the Burton, Brocklesby, Belvoir, Blankney, Cottesmore, Per Ardua Beagle and East Lincolnshire Basset Hunts take part in Parade of the Hounds and take over the Clydesdale Main Ring. This beautiful spectacle is a real crowd pleaser and a must see.

11am Head to the Food Court to pick the very best Lincolnshire produce in the forms of meats, cakes, sweets and bread and, if you're feeling really peckish, then try Munchy Seeds. A new offering for 2012, this is a perfect chance to pick up a tasty blend of deliciously nutritious nibbles to get you through 'til lunch.

Noon Don't miss your chance to pick up something really special from the RSA Mews shopping avenue. Whatever you need, be it a leather bag or a bespoke kitchen, you'll find in this exclusive shopping area.

12.30pm Rachel Green returns to the Food Court for cookery demonstrations throughout both days of Show. The Lincolnshire chef will be whipping up some delicious dishes with local ingredients to whet your appetite just before lunch.

1pm Are you one of our many Show visitors who've brought your pooch? If so, then you'll love Scruffts! This doggie contest is a regional heat for their Family Crossbreed Dog of the Year competition, giving Lincolnshire two regional winners in the 2012 national final. There will also be a special appearance in the Dog Ring from Merlin, the ambassador dog for Hearing Dogs for Deaf People, who is on a special mission to raise £30,000 for the charity during its 30th anniversary year.

2pm If you've seen The Sheep Show before you'll know exactly why our woolly friends are returning for another year. This highly anticipated mix of entertainment, hilarity and information is a must for any Lincolnshire Show visitor. Join the crowds for a lesson in sheep attributes, how your jumper's made and the highlight of the show, The Sheep Show Hustle!

2.30pm Suitable for the young and young at heart visit the Young Farmers latest attraction, PIG. You'll see a 30 foot long sleeping sow in a pen and hear her snuffle and snore. A farm hand will offer you the opportunity to act like pigs and take a peek at a 10 minute long show that takes place inside her belly.

3pm Wake up the senses with the sights and smells of the Flower Show and Floral Decorations Marquee. See the blooms at their most vibrant and all the displays entered in this year's competitions.

3.20pm Watch in amazement as the Knights of the Damned perform exhilarating foot fights with unmerciful swords and unyielding quarterstaves as the knights romantically accept favours from the ladies, fighting for their honour.

5pm Visit a new and exciting area celebrating the variety and quality of the county's exports from agricultural, engineering and food production sectors and the motor industry. The Trading in New Markets marquee brings Lincolnshire's biggest exporters together, in a move designed to encourage more local companies to export their products to new markets.

6pm It's almost home time, as another Show comes to an end. The sheep, pigs, cows, horses and goats have been judged, the WI have sold out of scones, the Knights of the Damned have entertained, the Schools' Challenge winners have been drawn and Scruffts have chosen their finalists, but there is just time for the Closing Ceremony in the Clydesdale Main Ring. Don't leave before seeing this celebration of the 128th Lincolnshire Show!

Welcome to the 128th Show!

Jayne Southall

Director of the Lincolnshire Agricultural Society

Varied, challenging and demanding – all these things could be said about the organisation of the Lincolnshire Show but above all it's been exciting, constantly surprising and a real privilege.

It might be my first year as Lincolnshire Agricultural Society Director but I have worked at the Showground for more than five years previously as the Finance Manager so I did have an idea of what I was letting myself in for and I certainly haven't been disappointed in rediscovering what a wonderful event it is to work on.

We have a small but dedicated team who work on the Show all year round but these numbers swell significantly the closer we get to June to include caterers, jewellers, carpenters, plumbers, electricians, police, entertainers, girl guides, bloggers, drivers, gardeners, musicians, vets, florists, craft artisans, security personnel, road traffic management and nearly 200 volunteer stewards – everyone is indispensable and committed to putting on the best Show for our visitors as they can.

It's our 128th event and we're proud of our agricultural heritage and the popular exhibits that return year-on-year but the Show is always looking to celebrate our unique county in new ways and this year's Trading in New Markets initiative (find out more on page 46) is highlighting companies that aren't just bucking the economic downtrend but stretching their reach across both the county's and the country's borders.

Whether you're here on business, competing in one of the hundreds of competition classes, relaxing in our Members' area or just set on enjoying a great day out we hope you find something that will make 2012 a memorable year for you.

Welcome to the 128th Show!

Lord Taylor of Holbeach, CBE

Lincolnshire Agricultural Society President

Lincolnshire Agricultural Society President Lord Taylor of Holbeach, CBE, who is now serving as a Government minister for the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs, is 2012's President of the Lincolnshire Agricultural Society.

Lord Taylor's involvement in horticulture and farming dates back to his teens, when he joined the family business and started work on the family farm in Holbeach.

The peer, who stood down as chairman of the company, Taylors Bulbs, following his appointment said: "It's a great honour to be invited to act as President. I applaud the Society for the way in which they have kept the agricultural focus of the Lincolnshire Show; in so doing they have ensured that it remains the high point of the farming year in the county. The Society plays an important part in the economic life of Lincolnshire as well as performing a great task as advocate for the agricultural and horticultural industry, in what is the country's premier agricultural county."

Nigel Brown is President Elect.

Richard Collett Honorary Show Director

In 2012, Richard Collett is enjoying his second year as Honorary Director of the Lincolnshire Show. Formerly the Chief Steward for the Countryside Area, Richard has 1,100 acres of farmland, some alongside the Showground, and runs a potato joint venture growing 450 acres of potatoes for packing for major supermarkets.

"I'm looking forward to another full programme at the Show with even more for everyone to take part in and even more entertainment including a concert on the Wednesday evening, Leicester Tigers in the Countryside Ring and Machinery parade, livestock parade and Knights of the Damned jousting display in the Clydesdale Bank Main Ring" says Richard.

"We also have a new and improved layout in the Members and Vice Presidents areas with enhanced facilities and a new Corporate Hospitality area."

Highlights

The Knights of the Damned

The Knights of the Damned are back for another fantastic, coloured costumed display of Medieval jousting. The show also boasts superbly choreographed foot fights with unmerciful swords and unyielding quarterstaves as well as the knights romantically accepting favours from the ladies and fighting for their honour.

Osborne Refrigerators Double Harness Scurry Final

Scurry racing is one of the most popular action-packed equestrian sports. You will be cheering as pairs of ponies pulling stripped-down carriages weave their way through a series of obstacles at break-neck speed. As the drivers urge their ponies on to notch up the fastest time, their grooms battle to keep the carriages from overturning.

Young Farmers

The Young Farmers Trailer Competition sponsored by Brown Butlin is making a welcome return to the Clydesdale Bank Main Ring. Following the success of Louth YFC win in 2011, twelve groups from the county will be competing against one another for the best trailer design. This year the theme is Countries of the World, in honour of the 2012 Olympic Games.

The John Rainthorpe Machinery Parade

If you're keen to learn a little more about farming methods of years gone by then don't miss the spectacular Machinery Parade sponsored by Woldmarsh and Spaldings. Sean Sparling, the event commentator, explained "This year's John Rainthorpe Memorial Machinery Parade charts the evolution of application machinery. If it has to be spread or sprayed, we'll show you how it was originally done and we'll show you how we do it now – with everything in between here too. All the machinery has been lovingly restored by Lincolnshire farmers and enthusiasts – and it's pulled behind more than 25 classic vintage tractors. It's a unique opportunity to see almost 80 years of farming heritage in one place – in Lincolnshire, the farming county."

DUCKWORTH ISUZU Countryside Area

With the Knights of the Damned riding into the main ring this year they've left their smaller four-legged friends to fill the gap in the Countryside Ring.

Agility Buds (www.agilitybuds.com) will be providing two dog agility shows in the ring on both days of the Show emphasizing their positive re-enforcement approach to training. Agility Buds's Lucy Osborne and Ben are award-winners having competed on the Great Britain Agility team, at the KC Stakes Final and representing England at Crufts. Further canine displays will be provided by the United Retrievers (www.unitedretrieverclub.co.uk).

Leicester Tigers Maul is returning to the Show for a second year and, as well as providing kids goodie bags, games and the chance to win Leicester Tigers tickets on their stand, they'll also be providing a display in the ring at 12.30pm on both days.

Around the ring there's plenty to both watch and try your hand at. Angling Lincs will be offering tuition and advice about course fishing, sparks will be flying in the farriery competition and the Lincolnshire Beekeepers' Association Annual County Honey Show will be highlighting the importance of these tiny pollinators.

Whilst chainsaw sculpting, ferrets, pig racing and falconry displays round-off the ring programme, more creatures and crafts will be showcased around the area with Rand Farm Park bringing a selection of farm animals and pets for visitors to meet.

Chair makers and wood workers demonstrate their skills and there'll be lots of information on offer from countryside organisations such as the Lincolnshire Wolds Countryside Service, the Rare Breeds Survival Trust, Voyage Bird and Animal Centre and Weirfield Wildlife Trust.

The Sheep Show

Appearing at more than 100 shows a year and in front of an estimated audience of 2.5 million people, this unique show has captured the hearts of many showcasing nine different breeds of sheep and picturing the journey from fleece to jumper. The entertaining and humorous narrative is rounded off with a routine that only these sheep could perform – the sheep show Hustle. Don't miss Nobby the Norfolk Horn and his dancing friends on both days at 11am, 12.30pm, 2pm, 3.30pm.

The Dog Ring

Dogs are welcome once again at the Lincolnshire Showground this year and the Show organisers have made sure that they've got their own entertainment and activities to watch and take part in in the Dog Ring next to the Duckworth Isuzu Countryside Area.

Crossbreeds can enter a regional heat of Scruffts, the Kennel Club's family crossbreed of the year competition, and pedigrees can join them in watching the work of Canine Companions and Merlin's Mission.

Plus there will be lots of displays and the chance to have a go with the Christina Oxtoby Dog Display and Lincolnshire Dog Training.

Scruffts

Regional heats of the national Scruffts competition are taking place at the Lincolnshire Show on both days of the Show this year. Each entrant will have a few minutes to dazzle the judge. The judge will be looking for good character, health, personality and if your dog is well behaved. Everybody's welcome to join! There are four categories you can enter:

- Most handsome Crossbreed Dog (6 months – 7 years)
- Prettiest Crossbreed Bitch (6 months – 7 years)
- Child's Best Friend* (6 months – 12 years)
 handled by a young person between 6 and 16 years of age with the permission of the parent or guardian*
- Golden Oldie Crossbreed 8 years over  at the organiser's discretion*

The winner of each regional heat will be invited to take part in the Scruffts Grand Final at Discover Dogs 2012 (at Earl's Court 1, London)!

It costs just £1 to enter and all the money goes to the Kennel Club Charitable Trust.

THE KENNEL CLUB
Making a difference for dogs

The Kennel Club

The Kennel Club is the UK's largest organisation dedicated to the health and welfare of dogs. It was founded in 1873 and is able to offer dog owners an unparalleled source of information, experience and advice on dog welfare, dog health, dog training and breeding. Come along and ask any questions of the team here. Plus James Wellbeloved will be at the Show offering advice and guidance on nutrition and treats!

Merlin's Mission

Merlin, an ambassador dog for Hearing Dogs for Deaf People, is on a special mission during 2012 to help raise £30,000 for the charity during their special anniversary year.

Find out more at www.merlinsmission.org

Canine Partners

Assisting people with disabilities to enjoy greater independence and a better quality of life, the Canine Partner (www.caninepartners.org.uk) dogs definitely attracted some ooohs and awwws last year and they're back again for 2012 to show off their amazing support skills. A Canine Partner can assist with tasks such as opening and closing doors and cupboards, retrieving a variety of different items, helping people undress, pressing buttons and switches, unloading the washing machine and a whole range of emergency procedures – and of course they bring companionship too.

Christine Oxtoby Dog Display

Christina Oxtoby is a musician, performer, piano and violin teacher, choir director, dog trainer and speaker. Christina's dogs are first and foremost loved members of her family (who sleep on the sofa.) They are clicker trained and love their work (no-one's told them it's work, they think it's a game with food and toys!) Christina hopes to pass on some of her knowledge and training methods in her have a go sessions in the Dog Ring.

Lincolnshire Dog Training

The LDTC has a dog agility display involving 10 teams who will show off their prowess over a variety of obstacles. The dogs love it and you can have a go too with sessions geared at training you to train your dogs!

Jerry Green Dog Rescue – Canine Crèche

Whilst dogs are more than welcome through the gates there are certain areas that they'll have to let their humans off the lead. If you're visiting the Food Court, Members' Areas, livestock section and flower show and floral decorations marquee then why not drop your furry friend off at the dog crèche off 10th Avenue just behind the Food Court that's hosted by Jerry Green Dog Rescue? With trained staff, secure and shaded premises, plenty to drink and lots of room for a snooze, a donation of £5 for a two-hour break will make sure your companion has a restful day too.

In the Livestock & Equine Rings

Woolly Wonderings...

The Lincoln Longwool can be traced back to the 18th century when it played a significant role in Lincolnshire's wool exportation business. The Longwool produces one of the heaviest fleeces of any breed and is popular with hand spinners.

The Lincoln Longwool Sheep Breeders Association is actually based right here on the Showground and the breed will be on show on Wednesday, June 20th in the Livestock Ring.

Seeing Red...

The Lincoln Red, one of the oldest of the UK's native beef breeds, is a magnificent and imposing animal. The breed is deep red in colour, with pink soft skin and renowned for its fast growth rate.

Gentle Giants...

The Shire has always been famed for its gentle manner, but in recent years have been somewhat overlooked as tractors replaced more traditional methods on the farm. However, as we become more aware of the environment, these bygone methods of farming are being introduced back into farms.

This incredible breed of horse descended from warhorses of the middle ages and of Tudor times. These horses can stand up to two metres tall, can weigh more than a ton and a fit Shire can pull twice its own weight.

A Race to the Finish...

Now in its fifth year, Ex Racehorses have been retrained to run, or just for fun! The class is sponsored by Market Rasen Racecourse and the ultimate goal of charity Retraining for Racehorses is to achieve a balance between the number of horses leaving racing and the number of enthusiastic and suitable new homes.

Hopefully this class will highlight the importance of re-homing horses after they become redundant from the racing world.

This Little Piggy...

From the British Saddleback to the Gloucestershire Old Spot, there are thirteen different breeds in the UK all ready and waiting to be judged at this year's Show.

Make sure you don't miss...

Pig Racing in the Duckworth Isuzu Countryside Ring on Wednesday and Thursday at 11.30am and 3.30pm.

Stands that Deliver!

It's not just the Lincolnshire Agricultural Society that makes sure you've got lots to keep you entertained at the Show – many of our exhibitors spend plenty of time thinking up activities and attractions to make sure you'll stop by their stand...

BBC Lincolnshire – Stand 8-46

"At this year's show we will be having live performances from Lincolnshire's Elliot Morris, the ABBA tribute band ABBA*SALUTE will be there and the very popular Gardeners Question Time is back," says BBC Lincolnshire's Claire Dunlop. "We have displays from our record breaking week of outside broadcasts One Week in Lincolnshire, Strictly Come Dancing costumes and more."

Lincoln Cathedral – Stand DZ-02

"On our stand this year we're promoting our flower festival that will be held in August called Dream of Gold," says Lynn Snelson. "We'll have large floral displays and photographs of previous flower festivals as well as details of the five-day event."

"We'll also be highlighting our works department and the craft skills they have there and visitors to the stand can help piece together a massive jigsaw of images of the Cathedral and take an interactive look at how a stone arch and sash window are made."

Lincolnshire Co-operative – Stand 10-36

"As 2012 is the United Nations International Year of Co-operatives our stand's main theme is Co-operative Difference," explains Sam Turner, Lincolnshire Co-operative's Membership and Community Manager.

"Displays from all of our trading divisions will include Tastes on Tour, introducing our new Love Local branding and taste testing new flavours from Pipers Crisps and Dennetts Ice Cream where the public will be able to vote for their favourite to be sold in stores later in the year, free health checks and advice on healthy living from our pharmacy section, a competition in the style of the Price is Right, a display of new outdoor seating and floral displays."

Lincolnshire County Council – Stand 10-24

"Lincolnshire County Council is taking the theme of Making Life Better for the People of Lincolnshire for its stand this year with a special emphasis on healthy lifestyles," says Events Manager Mark Stoneham.

"In our external area we'll be featuring the Olympics and different sports including judo and short tennis and six of our Olympic torch bearers will be attending the Show on the Wednesday."

“History fans can learn how to arm a knight and meet a Roman soldier and Lord Burgh’s Retinue as well as a Tudor character from Gainsborough Old Hall, children will be able to meet our mascot Impy as well as the Bookstart Bear and, following the popularity of Tommy the remote-controlled talking Toucan last year, this year we will be joined by Chalky the Chimp and Bakewell the Dragon who will be talking to the public about road and fire safety concerns.

“And there’ll be lots of information on offer about fostering and adoption, telecare services to aid independent living, an equality stand, East Lindsey District Council promoting the So Festival, the Road Safety Partnership, the Carers Partnership, Public Health and a Lincolnshire Library van.

“Competitive visitors can also take part in a range of challenges including a canoeing contest – whoever can canoe the furthest in five minutes will have the chance to win themselves a year’s Lincolnshire heritage pass.”

North Kesteven and East Lindsey District Councils – Stand DZ-05

Want to know what to do with your time after the Lincolnshire Show? Join North Kesteven District Council, East Lindsey District Council, Hill Holt Wood and Leisure Connection to discover more about local heritage, our countryside and places to visit in rural Lincolnshire. “Visitors to our stand will have the chance to win a short break at Branston Hall Hotel and children will be able to take part in colouring and badge making activities,” says Laura Meadows. “We’ll also have wood carving demonstrations taking place on the stand.”

RAF Association – Stand DZ-10

Barry Hartveld, Fundraising Events Officer at the RAF Association, says there’s lots for aviation enthusiasts to find at their stand.

“The Blues – the Red Arrows ground crew – will be joining us and there will be plenty of games to take part in including parachute games and trying your hand at landing toy airplanes with small gifts available to the best pilots.

“We’ll also have goodie bags for sale along with RAF merchandise and nostalgia and Red Arrows branded items.”

The Schools' Challenge

Challenging the county's schools

Sponsored by Uncle Henry's Farm Shop and Cafe, Farmacy plc, E Park and Sons and the Barbara Welby Trust

The Education Business Partnership is once again organising the Schools' Challenge at the Lincolnshire Show 2012, sponsored by Uncle Henry's Farm Shop and Café, Farmacy plc, E Park and Sons and the Barbara Welby Trust.

Each year, Lincolnshire schools are invited to take on the Schools' Challenge. A range of challenges related to the countryside, environment and agriculture are available to choose from and designed to link in with themes readily studied in the classroom and be easily incorporated into a school's curriculum.

Schools always create fantastic displays for the two days of show ensuring the judges have an enjoyable and tough job of deciding who the champions should be.

The challenges are aligned with the Sustainable Schools Framework Doorways so there is something for every school to make the visit fun and educational. What's more, mentors from the farming community are assigned to each school to give support throughout the project.

And there are 46 primary, secondary and special schools taking part this year – more than ever before, as organisers have expanded the Show schedule to allow more entrants.

Spaces are always limited, which is why the Society has accepted 10 more schools to compete in 2012. However, even with additional places, schools will come back year on year to defend their titles so you have to be quick to get a place.

For more information, to see all the displays and meet the children and teachers behind the work make sure you visit the Exhibition Hall, off Tenth Avenue, on either day of the Show.

What's more, schools competing will also be able to try their hand at making sausages back in the Schools' Challenge area, with Uncle Henry's Farm Shop and Cafe.

Discovery Zone

Sponsored by Porters Quality Feeds

This year the Discovery Zone, sponsored by Porters Quality Feeds, takes its theme from one of Lincolnshire's well-known speciality foods, the sausage, telling its story in the display From Pork to Fork.

Visitors to the Zone off Tenth Avenue will also be able to discover even more about the porcine animals from Ladies in Pigs who'll be providing tasters and recipes of British pork, ham and bacon.

With both indoor interactive exhibits inside the Exhibition Hall, as well as outdoor displays, you can learn more on the day as well as find out more information about educational courses at Riseholme College and North Lindsey College.

On the timetable for schools will be a visit to the Zone where they will be shown farming techniques and food production methods from the county's farmers and experts.

Skilful Showcase

They may all be demonstrating different skills in the Traditional Rural Skills marquee but our craft artisans all say the same thing about visiting the Show – it's meeting the public that keeps them coming back year after year.

"You often see the same faces each year as visitors are fascinated by the range of different crafts and what we do," says Janet Willey from Sutton on Trent who re-canes chairs and makes rag rugs.

"I've been practising my craft for about 16 years and demonstrating at the Show for 10 to 12 years and many people specifically seek you out to let me know that the chairs I've re-seated are still doing well. They may be big items to carry but at least they're ones you can sit and rest on when you're on your back to your car!"

Upholsterer Geraldine Gunner from Wellhead Upholstery in Nocton certainly agrees. "It's particularly enjoyable meeting everyone and they're always excited to see us – it's lovely to recognise regular visitors to the marquee too."

Geraldine has been an upholsterer for about 12 years and showcasing her work at the Show for four and it's a craft that attracts a lot of questions.

"I always get asked where I got my magnetic upholstery hammer from, about the golf tees used in caning a chair, about technical details and where I get my fabric and supplies from. I also regularly sign-up people for my September courses. The craft is a great stress reliever, like gardening and cooking, and the time goes really quickly when you're engrossed in it."

Walking stick maker Dominic Suddaby from Moortown also regularly fields questions about his work.

"I've been coming to the Show for about 20 years and enjoy the setting and occasionally the weather!" he jokes.

"Meeting the public is one of the best things about the event and they like to see you making items on the spot.

"I always get asked questions such as how long does it take to make a walking stick. It depends on the walking stick but it takes about two years all told with cutting it, seasoning, straightening, making and adding the head before finishing it off presentably.

"It's really nice for us to be able to watch our fellow demonstrators work and learn from one another but I am a walking stick maker I am definitely sticking to my trade."

Wood turner Alan Haslam from North Hykeham also loves working with wood. His fourth year at the Show, Alan's been working with wood every since he was 11 years old when he started using his father's lathe.

"I enjoy meeting people and showing them the skills I use – children are often very interested too especially in all the different types of wood.

"I love the material because you never know what it's going to turn out like until you turn it and reveal the grain and shape in the wood. No two pieces are the same because it's a natural product, not mass manufactured."

And it's the extra special nature of their work and the products they make that chair caner Janet Willey says the public appreciate too.

"All handmade chairs are unique with the turn of the wood slightly different in each. I like the fact that I can give something a new lease of life by reseating it and the quality of these chairs is much better than many modern ones.

"It's a form of recycling that gives an item another 10 or 20 years worth of life and the warm honey colour is neutral and goes with any changing styles.

"Chairs are often passed down through the family and might not be particularly special in themselves but people often want to keep them in the family as they can have great sentimental value."

The Flower Show sponsored by Taylors Bulbs Beautiful Blooms, Fragrant Flowers and Dramatic Displays

Adam Taylor of Taylors Bulbs, suppliers to nurseries, garden centres and landscapers across the country, says "Given the continuing importance of flowers to the economy of Lincolnshire, we are delighted to support the Flower Show and Floral Decorations Tent at the 2012 Lincolnshire Show."

Head to the First Avenue, in the horticultural area, for the ever popular Flower Show, brimming with inspiration for your garden and offering an escape from the hubbub of the Showground.

There are more than 30 stands dedicated to flowers, plants and floral decorations at this year's Show, which is perfect if you've a keen interest in gardening.

The Floral Decorations and Flower Show marquees, sponsored by Taylors Bulbs of Spalding, are always very popular and with everything from roses to bonsai trees you'll be sure to find something to take your fancy. What's more, the stand holders will be on hand with years of horticultural knowledge to help advise you how best to care for your new plants.

While many stand holders have been exhibiting at the Lincolnshire Show year after year, we also have a few new stands with both traditional and modern displays to catch your eye. In the Floral Decoration section you'll also see the entries to The Best Exhibit, The Best Use of Colour and The Best Floral Decoration (Junior Class) to name a few.

Dawn Hinsley, features writer and gardening columnist at the Lincolnshire Echo, always makes sure she has time to visit the most fragrant marquee at Show.

"I always find the Flower Tent breathtaking and so imaginative," says Dawn. "From the spectacular large displays to the tiniest and most intricate, there is so much variety to take in and enjoy.

"I think all the horticultural sections of the Show always remind me that there's no limit to what can be achieved in a garden, only what my own imagination imposes. I usually come away thinking 'more colour, more colour'.

"One plant I realise my garden lacks, is our beautiful rose. I'm hoping there will be a few varieties I can peruse at the Show and perhaps a few experts on hand to share their tips.

"I do love the petite exhibitions and am looking forward to seeing what people have come up with to celebrate the Queen's Diamond Jubilee in the Happy and Glorious club class. The space allowed is only 25cm², so it will be interesting to see how creatively people use that. I'm sure the entrants will be stunning."

Lights, Camera, Action

Presenting the Ladies of the WI

Reporter Dianne Tuckett from the Market Rasen Mail tells us just what to expect from this year's Women's Institute tent...

"The Lincolnshire Show is the perfect venue for WI members to show off their wide range of talents and each year the competition schedule gives members the chance to showcase their skills," says Dianne.

"This year's competition title is Lights, Camera, Action – with displays of floral art, craft and photography.

"Lincolnshire North has more than 85 individual WIs across a diverse landscape, from the flat land south of Lincoln, across the rolling Wolds and on to the sea. Each has its own character, but all share the same goal, to enable women to 'make a difference' – to the life they lead, to the community they are a part of and to the world they live in.

"The modern WI is far removed from the start of the organisation in 1915, when food production – yes, jam included – and homemaking were at its forefront. The WI is still as relevant today as in those early times, but today's WI member is more likely to be seen gliding or campaigning on a wide range of issues. However, traditional crafts are still important and one of the best show cases for the WI locally is the Lincolnshire Show."

For more on the WI call in at the marquee or visit www.wi.lincolnshirenorth.org.uk

County's Young Farmers have a piggin good time!

"The Lincolnshire Show 2012 is guaranteed to be a fun packed and educational two days for Lincolnshire Young Farmers," says YFC County Organiser Angela Bruntlett.

"The marquee has now moved to the Discovery Zone, sponsored by Porters Quality Feeds, and with our own ring for tug of war and other activities we have a great programme of activities planned for the two days.

"The marquee will host the Nash Dash Team in aid of Marie Curie Cancer Care. The run will be launched through the Show and the vintage tractor completing the run from North Lincolnshire to France will lead the decorated trailers around the main ring on both days.

"The Piglet Challenge has been launched where clubs have a wooden piglet to paint and decorate to advertise their club. They aim to raise money for Marie Curie in the run up to the Show and have to bring their piglet to the marquee to be put on display – the best decorated one will win a prize for their club. The piglets will go on to raise the profile of Young Farmers' Clubs throughout the year through different challenges.

"On the theme of British Pork we will be hosting a 30 foot sleeping sow in a pen on the Thursday – PIG is a unique show from the Whalley Range All Stars – the company will perform shows throughout the day from inside the giant pig!

"YFC will also be hosting the East Midlands area round of Stock Judging and the Tug of War competitions – both taking place on the Thursday.

"The marquee will also be hosting fun and games for the public to get involved with including guess the number of packets of Pipers crisps in the tractor, a mini digger challenge, driving challenge and YFC celebrities will also be in the stocks for the public to soak – all in aid of Marie Curie!

"Last but definitely not least the famous YFC decorated trailer competition will be taking place on both days of the Show in the main ring – the theme this year is Countries of the World and with 11 entries the clubs have been busy working on this year's masterpieces ready to fight for the top prize."

Long Service Awards

Celebrating lifetimes of service to Lincolnshire

Few of us can say we have dedicated our entire working career to one profession and one company. But those who can will be recognised for their dedication and loyalty at the Long Service Awards ceremony, sponsored by Harold Woolgar Insurance Services Ltd.

The ceremony will be held on Wednesday, June 20th at 11.30am celebrating a culmination of more than 1,255 years of service to Lincolnshire. Lord Taylor of Holbeach and the Society's new Director, Jayne Southall, will be presenting the awards this year.

Philip Woolgar, director of Harold Woolgar Insurance, says: "We appreciate from personal experience the benefits of long standing employees, and the trust that can be placed in them. The farming community is the core focus of our business and we are delighted to sponsor the Long Service Awards in recognition of this."

This year three members of Lamyman Worlaby Farms in Louth will be honoured for their commitment to the company. Fur and Feathers

“Our tent is nearly as busy as the beer tent,” says Mr John Kay – and it’s no surprise when there’s plenty of different breeds of poultry, rabbit and cavy (guinea pigs) on display ready to meet the public.

John organises the rabbit and cavy side of the show and Mrs Clare Beebe takes care of the exhibiting poultry.

“There’s a petting table in the marquee where people can stroke the animals and we build a pond outside the marquee for people to meet the call ducks.”

A Dutch and English rabbit breeder, John owns 20 breeding does, six or seven stud bucks and also shares his home with a further 15 guinea pigs.

“We’ll have Rex, fancy, Dutch, English, dwarf and lion lop rabbits for people to see along with tortoiseshell, white rex and teddy guinea pigs with their inch-long fur coats.”

John has been voluntarily organising this area of the Show for about 30 years and says that, as well as discovering lots of different breeds, you even have the opportunity to take a new friend home with you.

“We have most show breeds on show and some are on sale too. In the last ten years there’s been an increase in people interested in having their own coup and hens for eggs. When people come and visit our tent they find out how easy it is to keep them and then each morning you can just pick yourself your breakfast up from your back garden.

“Every year people come back just to buy a chicken and find one or two new ones to put with their old ones if they’ve lost one to a fox or over the winter.

“It’s the people we meet every year that makes the hard work of putting the show together worthwhile – the bond that’s made between the visitors and ourselves when you explain what the breeds are and how to look after them.

“There’s a blind lady who visits us regularly every year to come and stroke the rabbits and, at another show, we had one woman return three years in a row with her young children to buy chickens to look after at home.

“We really enjoy helping the public learn more about the animals and to have a nice day out.”

The John Rainthorpe Machinery Parade

The 2012 Machinery Parade is held in memory of John Rainthorpe, who was a Lincolnshire farmer, a member of the Lincolnshire Agricultural Society and a long-serving steward at the Lincolnshire Show.

Sponsored by Woldmarsh and Spaldings, the event is a longstanding addition to the Clydesdale Bank Main Ring programme and we asked James Grantham, Show Steward and Member of the LAS, to explain just what to expect.

"At the 128th Lincolnshire Show, the John Rainthorpe Machinery Parade will showcase how farm machinery has changed through time from now vintage machinery such as the classic grey fergy, to the large, more productive machinery that is used on farms today," says James.

"In this year's parade you will be able to see the machinery farmers use throughout the growing season to help ensure that we have lots of high quality food. Farmers use this machinery to supply the correct amount of nutrition that their crops need so as to maximise the amount of food that they can produce, as well as applying crop protection products so as to ensure that the crops they grow are of the very highest quality.

"So to see and experience one of the largest running exhibitions of some of Lincolnshire's finest vintage machinery as well as the machinery that you will see in our county's fields today, come to the Clydesdale Bank Main Ring at 1.40pm on Wednesday or at 1.50pm on Thursday."

What's more, you can visit the hundreds of machines on display throughout Second Avenue on the Showground. Be amazed by the sheer size of the tractors that help Lincolnshire farmers produce beautiful crops through the year.

Sponsored by RG Carter Trading in New Markets

The Lincolnshire Show presents all that is great about Lincolnshire, the warm welcome, its skills and quality products.

At this year's Show we will be celebrating the inventiveness, initiative and hard work of Lincolnshire's trading businesses – companies based in the region that already trade successfully outside of the region, perhaps processing international raw materials locally, or selling products in overseas markets.

Photographer: Marianna Wood.

With the support of UK Trade & Industry, the County Council and Lincolnshire Chamber of Commerce, we will be showcasing Lincolnshire based exporters that are leading the field in quality and leading the charge into new markets by hosting a new trade area Trading in New Markets, sponsored by RG Carter.

This will highlight the skills and resources available in Lincolnshire, including its world class work force and training facilities, efficient logistics networks with access to major UK ports and export routes.

Through our collective networks, we are welcoming international business groups to attend the Show, supporting this with experienced interpretation skills and value adding events, to ensure guests take home the best impression of Lincolnshire, our people and our products.

Trading in New Markets will be hosting business meetings, demonstrating some of the diversity of Lincolnshire businesses operating overseas and providing introductions to potential business partners to explore new markets.

Lincolnshire Agricultural Society Council Member Chris Rothery, a former agricultural farm machinery dealer, has been helping to promote the new initiative alongside fellow Life Member Matthew Fletcher.

“We have had a very positive response from county businesses when we approached them about this new area of the Show,” says Chris.

“Even those companies who cannot join us this year are already looking to book a space for 2013 so we are confident this will be a good addition to the Show’s offering in future years and be useful for Lincolnshire-based producers.

“Firms who’ve signed up to it this year will gain from the exposure to anyone attending the Show who is interested in doing business with them in both neighbouring counties and abroad – I think people would be surprised by how many overseas attenders already visit the Show and we would like to highlight and encourage this.

“And they’ll have a lot to learn about the variety of Lincolnshire businesses as companies in the agricultural, engineering, food production and motor industry are just some of the ones being showcased in 2012.”

The Trading in New Markets marquee can be found off Eighth Avenue.

Food, Glorious Food!

"The Select Lincolnshire and Tastes of Lincolnshire Partnership is delighted to sponsor the Food Court once again at the Lincolnshire Show and to show our support to all of the hard working Lincolnshire food and drink producers who have stalls here," says Hayley Bury.

"Having been crowned as the UK's Top Food Spot by voters during British Food Fortnight; here in Lincolnshire we are justifiably very proud of our great food heritage and culture.

"The abundance of Lincolnshire food and drink in the Food Court is testament to the quality and variety of delicious county produce. From our world famous sausages, to unique delicacies such as Lincolnshire haslet and chine, to sweet treats of delicious chocolates and mouth-watering traditional ice cream (and much more!) – you should find it all in the Food Court.

"Don't forget to visit the cookery demonstration theatre at the rear of the Food Court – where throughout the Show you will find a programme of entertaining cookery demonstrations from our renowned county chefs Tastes of Lincolnshire champion Rachel Green and Winteringham Field's Colin McGurran (most recently seen on BBC2's Great British Menu). A treat not to be missed – especially the tastings at the end of each set!

"Look out for the Select Lincolnshire and Tastes of Lincolnshire stand at the entrance to the Food Court. Why not pop along to pick up your latest edition of Good Taste and enter our draw for your chance to win a hamper brimming with tasty Lincolnshire produce? We look forward to seeing you!"

And, as well as keeping an eye on tweets from @lincsshows or using the hashtag #lincsshows, you can follow Select Lincolnshire and Tastes of Lincolnshire on Twitter @TastesofLincs too to keep up to date with events and demonstrations as they happen.

Success celebrations and product launches

Our food exhibitors are showcasing their produce to more than 60,000 people during the two days of the Show so it's the perfect place for a product launch and Lymn Bank Farm is the latest company to take full advantage of the exposure to thousands of hungry stomachs.

"Over the last 18 months here at Lymn Bank Farm we have been busy developing a new cheese and are proud to launch it at this year's Lincolnshire Show," says Stephen Grinstead.

“Our Skegness Blue is a blue cheese naturally rinded and matured for two months. We are sure you will love its full bodied creaminess.”

Look out for another new cheese from Lymn Bank later this year – Skegness Gold – a naturally cloth-bound cheddar.

And Lymn Bank Farm is not the only one of our exhibitors that’s been busy this year – Redhill Farm Free Range Pork is celebrating taking the title of Select Lincolnshire Producer of the Year at the Lincolnshire Food & Drink Awards.

The farm’s founders and directors Jane and Terry Tomlinson were told that “their passion for their fantastic meats shines through in everything they do and they are so incredibly customer aware and people focused.”

“To have been named the Lincolnshire Producer of the Year in the same year that Lincolnshire itself is the UK Food County of the Year is about as good as it gets,” says Jane. “As always, this reflects the hard work and dedication of all our tremendous team back at the farm.”

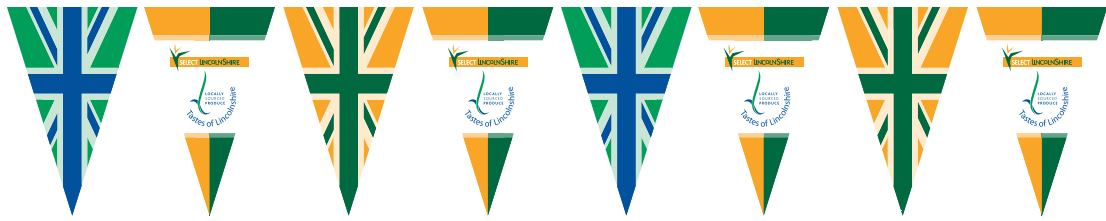

Find Lymn Bank Farm Cheese Company (www.postacheese.com) at Stand FC-56 and Redhill Farm Free Range Pork at FC-65 and 85.

In the (Demonstration) Kitchen...

“I am delighted to be involved once again with the Lincolnshire Show,” says Winterringham Field’s Colin McGurran.

“Doing live cookery demonstrations is always so much fun for me as I can really try and get people excited about the food I am passionate about. We are very lucky to be based in a region that offers such a wide variety of great local produce and I am looking forward to showcasing this during my demonstrations.

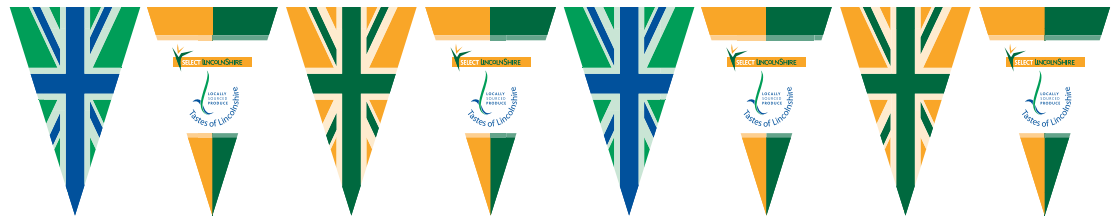

"2012 has been a very exciting year for both Winterringham Fields and myself as a chef. I was selected as one of the three chefs to represent the North East region for the BBC's Great British Menu and it has been a great project to be involved with. I am passionate about local produce and the Olympic theme brief for this year's Great British Menu really helped me push the region's best ingredients and create some exciting dishes for the show. Getting through to the finals of the show is such a thrill as I had really written myself off being up against such an amazing line up of chefs.

"I also spend some time in May as a guest chef at the first hotel I ever worked for, it was so nice to go back to where my passion for hospitality began. It has changed so much since I was a boy so it was great to be asked back.

"The Lincolnshire Show really showcases the great farming traditions of Lincolnshire and so I hope to be able to do justice to such great produce and hard work. In a year when it is so easy to be proud to be British, supporting our British farmers should be at the forefront of all our minds."

Colin (www.winterringhamfields.co.uk) will be rounding off the demonstrations each day with the final slot at 2.45pm following Rachel Green's four earlier culinary presentations.

Tastes of Lincolnshire champion and Lincolnshire farmer's daughter, Rachel Green (www.rachel-green.co.uk) describes food production as "in my blood" and her infectious enthusiasm has already encouraged many to try their hands at cooking up some tasty treats in their own kitchens. Using the county ingredients visitors will be able to buy at the Show to take home with them, we're sure Rachel's 2012 appearances are sure to inspire even more budding cooks!

And if either of them have the time to tweet during their very busy days of Show you can find them at @colinmcgurran and @ChefRachelGreen

Around the Showground...

It's not just the stands in the Food Court that'll be calming hunger pangs though as there's plenty of opportunity around our whole 200 acres to pick yourself up a bite to eat and, as Lincolnshire Agricultural Society Trade Coordinator Sally Mundy explains, the importance placed on county produce is even higher this year.

"We've taken the organisation of our concession stands back in house this year and made a few changes that have made significant gains in encouraging our concessions to source and choose Lincolnshire produce in their cooking.

"Visitors to the Show will be able to choose delicious delights from pancakes to Pimms as well as venison burgers, noodles, fresh fruit salads, a Lincoln beef carvery and much more."

If you like this...

Then don't miss the Lincolnshire Christmas Food and Gift Fair at the Showground on November 24th and 25th. If you're a Lincolnshire Agricultural Society Member then you'll get an invite to a special preview of the Fair on the evening of the 23rd too!

The Lincs FM Stage

Dance Troop Atrocity.

Local talented performers from across the area will be entertaining the crowds, having won the chance to appear on the Lincs FM stage via the station's You've Got Talent auditions. Throughout May the auditions were held at Blackfriars Art Centre, Boston, Lincoln Drill Hall and Club Tropicana, Chapel St Leonards. The stage forms the centrepiece of a family area at the Showground, with free entertainment for all ages while you grab a bite to eat or a drink.

Last year saw the Lincs FM presenters attempt to form a street dance troop called Atrocity. After blood, tears and sweat (a lot of sweat, they're very unfit) their performance was indeed atrocious. This year we thought to give the presenters a well deserved rest but since then rumours of a performance which requires them to wear Lederhosen have been muted... watch this space (or possibly don't watch if you are susceptible to nightmares).

On stage this year is set to be even more special with real variety including Steve Spencer, a Tommy Cooper tribute, who wowed the crowds in Boston with his magic tricks. Folk singers Pheasants and their Enemies, Rock band Kill the Ideal and 2011 Britain's Got Talent Finalists Grace and Ted will also take to the stage. Grace will also be performing her amazing Lady Gaga Tribute! Other highlights include solo singers Ben Lees and Sarah Beswick. Plus look out for Matt Cawston who sings and plays percussion with his feet!

You'll find the Lincs FM stage near the main gate on the A15 side of the Showground and acts will be live on stage from 10am.

Lincs FM's also again producing a separate radio station just for visitors to the event, with Lincolnshire Show Radio on air 15 miles around the showground on 107.8FM from Tuesday June 19th (the day before the Show itself) to Thursday June 21st. The station will offer in depth travel news, interviews and news from across the Showground.

The Showground on Show

The two days of the Lincolnshire Show are undoubtedly two of the most entertaining within the county's diary but there's plenty more in store at the Lincolnshire Events Centre to keep you coming to the Lincolnshire Showground all year round.

The award-winning environmentally-friendly EPIC Centre at the heart of the Showground regularly hosts weddings, business conferences, annual balls and prize giving ceremonies, the Exhibition Hall just across from the EPIC Centre houses clothes sales, antique, craft and toy and train fairs whilst the whole Showground comes into its own for events including equestrian shows, charity races and music concerts such as this September's JLS performance.

From meetings for groups as small as two to dining for up to 1,000 people, our buildings are extremely flexible and, with 200 acres of grounds surrounding them, there's certainly no shortage of space.

If you are interested in holding your own event here then please call 01522 524240, email events@lincs-events.co.uk or visit www.lincs-events.co.uk for further information.

We aim to be as flexible as your event needs us to be – just look at what we've already got coming up for the rest of the year:

Supporting the Society

The Lincolnshire Show is brought to you by the Lincolnshire Agricultural Society.

The charity (no. 515652) strives to advance and promote agricultural and horticultural industries and associated trades, crafts and professions within a sustainable environment.

The Society carries out this mission in a number of different ways – through staging events such as the Lincolnshire Horse Trials and the LAS Spring Lecture in March, the Lincolnshire Show in June and the Christmas Food and Gift Fair in November, through our Education Committee's work supporting schools and also by supporting a nominated Charity of the Year.

Previous charities that have been supported include the Royal Agricultural Benevolent Institution and Lincolnshire Rural Support Network and in 2012, the Society's Charity of the Year is the RAF Benevolent Fund. A Bomber Ball will be held on Friday, September 7th in aid of the work the RAFBF does providing financial, practical and emotional support to all members of the RAF family.

The contribution that we can make to our goals is dependent on the financial gifts we receive and one vital source of income is legacy gifts. If you are interested in leaving a gift to the Society please contact Emma Seamer on eseamer@lincs-events.co.uk or 01522 585515.

Our Members' financial contributions by way of annual subscriptions are also indispensable.

Anyone can become a Member of the Society and it not only benefits the charity but offers the Member a range of benefits both at the Show and all year round.

Membership includes entry to the Show on both days, priority forward parking and use of Members' facilities, £40 discount on a trade stand and discounted entry fees for livestock and equine classes. It also entitles you to invitations to the Spring Lecture and Members' evening at the Christmas Food and Gift Fair, discount on hire charges at the Lincolnshire Events Centre, free entry on the last day of the Lincolnshire Antiques and Home Shows at the Lincolnshire Showground plus discounted entry to the Mind, Body and Spirit events and All About Gardening.

Away from the Showground, Members can claim a 50% discount on selected race meetings throughout the year at Market Rasen Racecourse, 10% discount on cookware at the AGA Shop in Lincoln, 10% discount on legal services offered by McKinnells Solicitors in Lincoln and discounts with other associated companies – Members' can keep an eye on the regular e-newsletter to keep updated.

Lincolnshire Echo

The Lincolnshire Echo is the premier provider of news and information for the great county of Lincolnshire.

Averaging 184-pages, the paper is published every Thursday and includes regular business, property and motors guides, as well as specialist supplements and at least 17 pages of local sports coverage.

Having previously been a daily paper, the Echo was re-launched as weekly in October 2011 and figures show the new-look publication is a roaring success.

Its first official sales figures from the Audit Bureau of Circulations (ABC) were published in March 2012. They show an average sale of 25,757 per issue for the period October-December 2011.

Richard Duxbury, the Publisher at Lincolnshire Media, said this was great news.

"Readership research recently carried out by Kantar Media has shown that the weekly Echo is read by an average of four readers per copy," he said.

"This means that, according to industry body JICREG, the new weekly Lincolnshire Echo, with 103,028 readers, is read by 8,140 more people than the old daily edition was averaging over six nights.

"Going forward our ambition is to continue to grow our readership by developing and improving what we offer."

From its base in Lincoln's Brayford Wharf East, the Echo is committed to covering the issues that matter to the people of Lincolnshire. We hold public bodies and individuals to account, while highlighting and celebrating the efforts and achievements of our readers.

We have a bumper What's On section to bring you comprehensive coverage of Lincolnshire's vibrant leisure scene and our award-winning football reporter Leigh Curtis provides unrivalled coverage of Lincoln City.

In partnership with our website, we continue to be first with all the breaking news across the county.

Editor Steven Fletcher said: "The Echo has been serving the people of Lincolnshire since 1893.

"We have been at the heart of the community and this will remain so.

"Reading habits have changed so much and the Echo is moving with the times but our news coverage is now more comprehensive than ever."

The Lincolnshire Echo costs £1 and is available at outlets across the county.

1893: The first edition of the Lincolnshire Echo is published

1928: The Lincolnshire Echo became part of the Northcliffe Group

1930: Mr S Penfold, the first staff photographer is employed, which was revolutionary at the time

1984: The Echo moved from its offices in St Benedict's Square, Lincoln, to the former office in Brayford Wharf East, which housed the printing press.

1989: In March this year the Echo made the switch to a tabloid size for its Saturday edition

1991: The Echo changed from a broadsheet publication to a smaller tabloid-sized paper full-time after carrying out market research

2003: The Lincolnshire Echo won a Cepa's front page of the year award for its photograph of a baby in hospital in Iraq.

2004: The Echo won a second front page of the year, this time from the Press Gazette, for its coverage of the long wait women in Lincolnshire were facing for smear tests.

2005: The Lincolnshire Echo won the Newspaper Society's Regional Newspaper of the Year award

2006: In February this year, the printing press closed down in Lincoln to make way for more colour pages and faster printing by an off-site firm

2006: Reporter Emma Pearson spearheaded a fight to get a Sexual Assault Referral Centre (SARC) in Lincoln, which was announced in 2007

2008: Sports reporter Leigh Curtis won the Newspaper Society's Sports Reporter of the Year award and, at the Cepa awards, Emma Pearson won Journalist of the Year, Louise Wallace won Young Journalist of the Year and the Echo's features team won Magazine/Niche product of the year

2009: The Echo moved from its building opposite the University of Lincoln to new offices just up the road at Witham Wharf in October this year

2011: The Echo turns weekly from October 20, ending more than 100 years of daily editions

2012: Research shows the 6-month old weekly Lincolnshire Echo has 103,028 readers
